SPOTLIGHT

In our November training coaches explored how to identify, support, and best serve first generation students. Highlights include applying early, ignore ‘sticker price’ and look at financial aid packages, helping with application, and encouraging students to not sell themselves short - highlight every accomplishment! We also discussed reaching out to the college for Visit Vouchers to help offset the expense of visiting the campus. Many thanks to our guest speakers, Sarah Scott & Alex Wright from Centre College for sharing their knowledge and time with us. If you missed the webinar, or want to re-watch you can view it on YouTube.

IN OTHER NEWS

At the Nov. 2 training a survey was shared about the KY College Coaches program. If you haven’t taken the survey, or would like to change your answers, please take a few minutes to complete it now. This survey will provide valuable information to KyCC about your experiences with the KCC program. We will use this information to improve our messaging and recruitment efforts for the future.

If you registered and attended the Serve KY Launch in Richmond, you should have received an email with a survey link to give your valuable feedback. Two emails were actually sent– the first with the incorrect link. If you missed the email or were unable to complete the survey, please take a moment to respond. Only submit this once please.
November is National Career Development Month and the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE) is sharing some great resources for helping talk to students about college and career readiness. Take a look at the KDE Career and Technical Education resources for showing how social-emotional skills are vital to your students’ future success. There’s also some Career Conversation Starters from the American School Counselor Association (ASCA). It’s never too early, or too late, to talk with students about their short and long-term career goals.

NKU has a special offer for new applications. Any interested students can get the application fee waived until Nov 30 with code NKUFREE!

Junior Achievement, together with international services firm EY, have introduced a new app, EY Stem App. This innovative mobile app is for girls 13-18. The app gamifies learning, with the ultimate goal of inspiring young women and encouraging them to consider STEM related careers. The app is available on Android and iPhone.
